¹ Fee is payable upon submitting account opening application

² Current account balance fee is charged on the funds of the customer or group of related customers. The Bank does not calculate or pay interest on the customer's account balance. The current account balance fee is not applied if the central bank has set an annual deposit interest rate of 0% or higher for the respective currency. The fee is applied to and calculated on the current account balances specified in the pricelist per each calendar day as of the end of day and the total amount of the fee calculated shall be debited to the account on the last day of each month. The current account balance fee may be applied individually by notifying the customer 14 calendar days in advance, unless the customer meets the criteria set in forth below. In such case the account balance fee is applied without a notification - the current account balance fee is applied to all insurance or reinsurance companies or other financial institutions (including their branches), whose core business is the provision of financial services and who are subject to financial supervision by a competent authority.

³ If the Bank informs the client in advance, for the purposes of applying the commission fee, the client's financial instruments account can be treated as a current account.

⁴ If the account currency is not EUR, the account balance fee is charged in an equivalent amount until the balance on the account is zero.
